MISS GALLAUDEY TO BE SELECTED

The third Miss Gallaudet Pageant will be held this week, March 4-6. Preliminary competitions will be held Thursday and Friday evenings. The girls will be judged in three categories -- talent, cocktail dress and evening gown. One lucky gal from among the 25 contestants will be selected Miss Gallaudet and then will go on to compete in the Miss Deaf America Pageant this summer.

Bernard Bragg is the featured guest star on the Pageant program with Jerry Jordan and Jane Wilk as master and mistress of ceremonies. The Gallaudet Dancers will also perform. Pamela Young, the current Miss Gallaudet and Miss Deaf America will hand over her crown on Saturday night.

Tickets are now on sale at the Gallaudet Auditorium box office.

TOTAL INVOLVEMENT '76

The Gallaudet College Alumni Association is planning to hold its 29th Reunion on the College campus June 13-20. The official Reunion theme is "Total Involvement...In the Spirit of '76."

Planned as a family vacation package during the Bicentennial year, the week's activities will include seminars, sports, entertainment as well as the sights in Washington. Gallaudet alumni and their families will be housed on campus.

AMONG OURSELVES

--Mary Elsie Henegar conducted a workshop on cued speech last Friday for graduate students in the field of deaf education at Western Maryland College.

--This week, Marcia Bordman, Patt Byrd and Bernie Schlien are presenting a workshop, "Adaption of ESL Methodology in Teaching English to the Hearing Impaired," at a convention of Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages which is being held in New York City.

--"The Look of Sound," was the topic of a talk given by Mike Kaika to a Lions Club located in the Warrenton, Virginia, area.

--In Saturday's Frederick News-Post the following tidbit was included in the paper's feature, "Yesterday....50 Years Ago,": "The Maryland State School for the Deaf basketball team may face a reinforced Frederick Military quint minus their star center Leonard Downes at the Armory. Downes is confined to his bed by sickness while the Soldier team has made plans to have all its regulars back in line for the contest."

THE VOTE IS IN

Audrey Armstrong from the Department of Student Life and Joe Martin from the Physical Plant were elected as staff representatives to the College Council. Congratulations to both of them!

SEEING THE SIGHTS

Following a brief hiatus during the Christmas holiday and semester break, Gallaudet students are back on the job as tour guides at the Kennedy Center (LaVerda Synder), Ford's Theatre (Gene Breckenridge and Carl Frels), Arlington House (Mary Malzkuhn), Lincoln Memorial (Priscilla Vinci) and Frederick Douglass House (Doreen Simons and Ogden Whitehead).

Until this program was started with the Cooperative Education Program at Gallaudet, the National Park Service had always relied on hearing people to tour deaf groups. For the first time they are using deaf Gallaudet students for this purpose.

To insure the continuation and expansion of this program, it is critical that the students' services be utilized. To arrange tours call 816 (voice) or 425 (TTY).

CAPTIONED EMERGENCY ANNOUNCEMENTS

The National Center on Law and the Deaf has received word that the Federal Communications Commission has decided to formally docket for rule making the petition filed by three G.W. law students one year ago which would require television stations to caption or present visually all emergency warnings or weather bulletins.

You may show your support for the proposal by writing Secretary, FCC, 1919 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20554.

ED TECH MINI-WORKSHOP PLANNED

A mini-workshop, "Graphics and Visualization," will be offered to all interested faculty and staff by the Office of Educational Technology this Thursday, March 4, from 4-5:30 p.m. in HMB 251. Clarence Williams will conduct the presentation. A follow-up workshop will be held on Thursday, March 18.

BE SURE NOT TO MISS...

...a free series of lectures on sports, society and the press with Shirley Povich and other guest speakers at American University on March 4, 11 and 25. For information, call 686-2055.

...registration for spring quarter evening classes sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Graduate School. Registration will be held in Room 1339, South Agriculture Building, 14th and Independence, S.W., from March 22-27. For more information about the hundreds of inexpensive courses available, call 447-4419.
